SEM AND MIDWEST DIVERSITY COMMITTEE

We knew we were going to the New Gateway Center in Waterford to bring joy to the program participants. Little did we know that we would be the recipients of that joy. SEM District staff joined adaptive tennis committee members, Florie Mojica, Efren Mojica, Marilyn Andrachick, Brian Wilkerson, and Charles McCrary for a morning of tennis at New Gateway.

CHELSEA'S OWN MISHA MOORE FEATURED ON NATIONAL WEBSITE

In 2018, the USTA launched the NTRP National Championships, a national adult tournament that leverages the NTRP rating system as a way to create level-based competition. USTA.com is highlighting the players from the 2019 tournament who made the event extra special.

In the latest NTRP Spotlight, we catch up with USTA member Misha Moore, who, at age 40, rekindled her love of tennis and went on to spread the passion to her family and community. Here's her story.

At 40 years old, Chelsea, Mich., resident Misha Moore (pictured above, right) was looking for both a physical and mental challenge.

"I started looking around, and all my friends the same age were starting to do triathalons, and I couldn't imagine anything more horrible," Moore said. "It just felt like work."

Around the same time in 2010, a friend of Moore's invited her to a drop-in tennis clinic. Moore had played in high school and sporadically in subsequent years, but she didn't find herself on the court too often.

That all changed, however, at the tennis clinic. Thanks to a welcoming instructor and environment, Moore was "hooked."

She began to go to the drop-in clinic regularly, meeting new people and sharpening her game. She was soon invited to play on a women's 2.5 team, and the first team that she joined made it all the way to the USTA League National Championships. Tennis had become a permanent place in Moore's life.

Moore began to compete regularly on USTA League teams, ascending to a 3.5 NTRP rating level, and she now plays on five League teams.

Read the entire story on the USTA National website at <https://www.usta.com/en/home/stay-current/national/ntrp-spotlight--misha-moore.html>

LOCAL TENNIS PLAYER MEETS SUCCESS AGAINST GREAT ODDS

Story written by Kelly Rose

I'm not sure if you're aware of Mickey Schmidt of Monroe. He was seeded #4 in the Atlanta Seniors Invitational in early May. He was the #2 seed in Indy last week and won it all. He's the #1 seed in WV this weekend. The two are practice partners. You'll find them on the clay at Grosse Ile Country Club or at Toledo Tennis Club. I'm the Tournament Director of the Wheeling event. I'll try to get a pic of both with their trophies if all goes well and send it your way. Usually Mats Ljungman of Ann Arbor plays those tournaments, too, but he is not in the draw this time around. SEMTA is represented well on the national senior circuit!
