THE UNITED STATES TENNIS ASSOCIATION

The United States Tennis Association (USTA) is the national governing body for the sport of tennis and the recognized leader in promoting and developing the sport's growth on every level in the United States, from local communities to the crown jewel of the professional game, the US Open.

Established in 1881, the USTA is a progressive and diverse not-for-profit organization whose volunteers, professional staff, and financial resources support a single mission: to promote and develop the growth of tennis.

The USTA is the largest tennis organization in the world, with 17 geographical sections, nearly 725,000 individual members and 7,000 organizational members, thousands of volunteers, and a professional staff dedicated to growing the game.

ADULT LEAGUE TENNIS

One of the country's largest recreational league tennis menus, the Colorado Adult League Series provides organized and structured team matches for nearly 25,000 men and women throughout the state. Whether you're a beginner or you're in a league of your own, we've got a team for players like you.

TOURNAMENT TENNIS

Sanctioned tournament play is wrongly thought to be for "serious competitors only." But in Colorado, there is a tournament for every level player, novice to expert. And with nearly 150 events featuring divisions for kids under 10 to seniors 90 and over, there's no age limit for having fun.

UNITED STATES TENNIS ASSOCIATION – COLORADO DISTRICT

A District of the United States Tennis Association, USTA Colorado is the governing body of tennis in our state. We are one of six districts in the Intermountain Section, which includes Idaho, Montana, Utah, Wyoming and Nevada.

Founded in 1955, USTA Colorado's mission is to grow tennis in our state. We do this in a number of ways. We provide grants to public and private groups who want to introduce tennis to their communities. We offer scholarships to players who seek to take their game to the next level. We coordinate adult league play for 25,000 participants across Colorado, and offer many recreational programs for junior players of all ages and abilities. We reach out to players of diverse cultural backgrounds, to mentally and physically challenged athletes, and to under-privileged communities across the state. Our sanctioned tournament schedule offers more than 130 events in 2007 for players of all ages and abilities, including opportunities for wheelchair athletes.

We are in the parks. We are in recreation centers and in private clubs. We are in schools helping physical education teachers introduce our kids to a game that they can play for a lifetime, keeping them fit and healthy.

We are 22,000 members strong, but our scope is not confined to those players alone. We represent the nearly 500,000 tennis players in our state, providing information and opportunities to play for each and every one of them. Our publications reach out to players around Colorado and in neighboring states. We strive to make tennis available to anyone who is interested in our sport – all ages, all abilities, all backgrounds.

We invite you to find out more about the lifetime sport of tennis. We will help you find a court, find a program, find a league or find a team. We will help you put the FUN back in FITNESS. So whether you want to learn to play tennis, get back into the sport, or just find more opportunities to play the game, we're here to help.

BOOM TIME FOR TENNIS

Tennis is growing again. In fact, in the past six years, it's the only traditional sport to see an increase in participation. While that's great news for the tennis industry, the governing bodies of the sport are working harder than ever to grow the game. Here's how.

CHILD'S PLAY

A new format developed by the USTA aims to help get more children into the game. QuickStart Tennis will utilize court size, equipment and scoring that will be tailored to the age and size of the children playing. It's the new way for kids 10 and under to play, and it's coming this Spring.

THE CYTF: CHANGING OUR WORLD, ONE PLAYER AT A TIME

We live in a time when the issues facing the health and focus of youngsters are pressing and significant. Childhood obesity is prevalent in communities throughout the state and country. Decision-making skills for our youth are being tested daily regarding drugs, gangs and a host of other potential life-changing choices. The decisions a child makes today will have a profound effect on his or her future.

Tennis is much more than just a healthy activity that promotes physical fitness. It fosters decision-making skills and instills self-confidence, sportsmanship and teamwork. It extends beyond the boundaries of age, color and economic background.

Tennis provides a place for youngsters to make new acquaintances and strengthen existing relationships with family and friends – it becomes an avenue to develop relationships that may last a lifetime. It teaches the importance of physical, emotional and mental fitness; of making good choices; and developing good character.

We envision communities where all kids are introduced to tennis in their schools, where they are given the opportunity to then get involved in after-school programs in elementary, middle school and high school.

We believe tennis gives kids the tools to learn, compete and win in life – through proper practice, dedication, knowledge and respect.

We need to focus on the future and make sound investments in the lives of our youth. Through tennis, the Colorado Youth Tennis Foundation is reaching out to kids of all ages and backgrounds in the hope that Colorado's kids receive the many benefits of tennis.

A tennis court is a backdrop for unlimited possibility.

A child who achieves success here becomes more self-confident in other aspects of life.

Many children and adolescents will have health problems that include depression, anxiety, and social isolation that may ultimately affect their performance in school.

Colorado Department Of Education

Physical activity among adolescents is consistently related to higher levels of self esteem and lower levels of anxiety and stress.

Colorado Department Of Education

Youth who participate in sports are: 57% less likely to drop out of school, 49% less likely to use drugs, 37% less likely to be teen parents, 35% less likely to smoke cigarettes and 27% less likely to be arrested.

Psychologist Nicholas Zill

IMPACTING LIVES

In 1961, the Colorado Youth Tennis Foundation was formed to encourage and assist juniors to play tennis, and over the past 46 years, has helped juniors on every level, from nationally-ranked team Colorado players to grade school beginners.

Since its formation, the CYTF has made thousands of tennis dreams come true for kids all over Colorado.

Its mission is to provide financial assistance to juniors and junior programs, giving youngsters the opportunity to learn and play the lifetime sport of tennis.

By providing individual player scholarships to kids and program grants to organizations throughout the state, the CYTF ensures that juniors from small rural towns as well as from larger metropolitan areas benefit from the sport.

It's boom time again for tennis. Not since the heyday of the sport back in the 1970s has tennis sustained such tremendous growth. In fact, according to a recent study by the Sporting Goods Manufacturers Association, tennis has grown more than 12% in the last six years, the only traditional sport to experience positive growth.

BEHIND THE NUMBERS

The survey reflects the introduction of numerous initiatives by the USTA and the efforts of the many associations at the grassroots level who are responsible for growing the game. It shows that the efforts put in by local communities and all who are passionate about tennis are paving the way for a whole new generation of players who are discovering the sport.

Community tennis associations, schools, National Junior Tennis League programs, parks & recreation agencies and other community-based organizations throughout the state are often times the entry gate for the new or returning tennis player. These are the places making tennis accessible and available to communities. Tennis enthusiasts within these organizations serve as advocates, program administrators, promoters and fundraisers. These individuals and organizations are the backbone of the USTA as they also provide leadership in organizing and promoting tennis leagues and instructional programs that ensure access to and growth within the sport of tennis at the recreational level.

TENNIS FOR EVERYBODY?

It can also be argued that the focused outreach efforts of USTA Colorado to be more inclusive of all in the community is certainly laying the groundwork to keep tennis participation moving in a positive direction here in Colorado. Tennis is for everyone and the game of tennis can be adapted to accommodate any age, environment, condition or disability. Clinics, tournaments and scholarships from the Colorado Wheelchair Tennis Foundation with assistance from USTA Colorado make tennis accessible to the physically disabled (visit CWTF.net to learn more). In particular, the Rocky Mountain Wheelchair Open at Gates Tennis Center July 11-13 is sure to be the beginning of a great Colorado tennis tradition this year! Developmentally disabled individuals have incredible support through Special Olympics Colorado to learn and compete in tennis locally and nationally. A Tennis Block Party specifically geared towards individuals with disabilities of any kind is taking place at Mullen High School on May 17 along with a workshop for players and instructors interested in learning adaptive tennis techniques.

By making diversity awareness and education a high priority in all aspects of our organization, committees and board operations, the governing body for the sport in Colorado is becoming an even stronger organization and community leader. Diversity is here, it's inclusiveness that is often lacking. The USTA Colorado Multicultural Diversity Plan guides us on this journey towards inclusiveness at all levels of tennis. The expansion of the USTA Colorado staff in 2007 to include a Diversity Coordinator, Elle Salinas, reflects a strong commitment to making tennis more inclusive and welcoming of people from all backgrounds in Colorado. An exuberant public relations campaign is taking place which involves a strong community presence – talking to people one-on-one, raising awareness, asking questions, developing allies, supporting and getting support. We are excited to celebrate the various rich cultural backgrounds represented in Colorado on the tennis court at the inaugural Diversity Tennis Fest/Tournament in July 2008, and we have many other exciting activities planned to impact minority youth and adults through tennis.

EQUIPMENT DONATION

Racquets for All is being launched in 2008 to bring the unparalleled benefits of tennis to those throughout the state of Colorado who are unable to play due to lack of access to adequate tennis equipment. Gently used tennis equipment is being collected by volunteers from tennis players at tennis clubs, parks, schools and other places, refurbished and then distributed to organizations and individuals in need of such equipment. Get your community involved and give us a call to get started on the collection efforts. For those organizations in need of equipment, an equipment request will soon be available at COLORADOTENNIS.com and should be submitted for consideration.

is available to organizations affiliated with the USTA?

Volunteer driven community tennis associations (CTAs), like Eastside Tennis Association in NE Denver and the Fort Collins Tennis Association, have received grants to support youth tennis program development and scholarships for junior players and organization leaders to attend life-changing workshops and camps. Find out more about CTAs located throughout the state by visiting COLORADOTENNIS.com and selecting the Community section. There you will find links to all registered CTAs in Colorado wanting to hear from tennis enthusiasts in their areas. If you are interested in starting a new CTA or want to improve your existing one you may find some new ideas simply by previewing other CTA's websites.

Some CTAs are also reaching out to youngsters who may not otherwise have the opportunity to play tennis and have joined the nation-wide network of National Junior Tennis League. Net Results Junior Tennis in Denver is one example of an NJTL program that is instilling the values of leadership and academic excellence in youngsters and giving kids an opportunity to develop tennis skills. The Arthur Ashe Essay contest, Tennis Leadership Camp and Regional Rallies are all benefits unique to registered NJTL programs.

More than 110,000 kids in Colorado are being introduced to tennis by the USTA School Tennis program.

IT STARTS IN THE PARKS

With nearly 70% of all tennis being played on public courts, park and recreation agencies are a critical partner for USTA Colorado. The Tennis in the Parks (TIP) initiative is a national partnership between National Recreation & Parks Association (NRPA) and the USTA that supports local parks and recreation agencies that are enthusiastic about increasing tennis participation in their communities. Participating agencies across Colorado are seeing increases in tennis participation as a result of the support and benefits provided to them, along with their communities' interest in the lifetime sport of tennis. TIP also focuses on making sure that public tennis infrastructure is in optimum condition through USTA Public Facility Funding as well as assistance in developing an advocacy agenda to support tennis in communities' master planning process. Utah Park in Aurora, Redstone Park in Highlands Ranch, Littleton Golf & Tennis Center and Rolland Moore Racquet Complex in Fort Collins are just a few past winners of USTA's Outstanding Facility award reflecting the high quality public tennis facilities that are available to Colorado residents. We expect TIP participation to increase in 2008 through the committed efforts of existing programs and the addition of new agencies.

ADVOCACY & INFRASTRUCTURE

The advocacy efforts of committed citizens like those in Durango, Grand Junction, Montrose and Longmont, just to name a few, have resulted in building stronger communities by offering healthy activities like tennis. schools to make the incredible benefits of tennis more extensively available to their communities through increased and/or improved tennis facilities and programs. When Canyon View Park in Grand Junction was built in 2004, six new tennis courts were included in the park plan as a result of advocacy efforts from the local CTA working with the City of Grand Junction. They did not stop there, however, and by the end of 2008 the park will be home to a total of twelve beautiful tennis courts (along with bathrooms and a shelter) that are consistently used for local ladders, tournaments, leagues and lessons. USTA Colorado contributed to the facility through matching Adopt-A-Court grant funding for bench/shade shelters in between the tennis courts. The USTA is here to assist tennis advocates in their efforts to ensure enough quality public tennis facilities exist in communities.

TENNIS IN OUR SCHOOLS

There's one place where more people are being introduced to the sport than anywhere else in Colorado: In schools!

Over 300 schools from throughout the state are introducing the sport of tennis to their students through PE which means an estimated 110,000 youngsters have access to the comprehensive, lifetime benefits afforded by the sport of tennis. Tennis is the ideal sport to help schools achieve their health and wellness goals. Our commitment to helping kids learn a lifetime sport – as well as self-confidence, sportsmanship and the habits of an active, healthy lifestyle – is backed by numerous resources for physical educators and after school program providers. We want to ensure that all kids have an opportunity to play and learn this lifetime sport. USTA Colorado is helping school districts implement tennis programming and build a self-sustaining tennis program for their school community with top-notch training by professionals, a comprehensive curriculum kit, technical expertise and discounted tennis equipment. INVESTING AT GRASSROOTS LEVELS

Schools, parks and recreation agencies, youth-service providers, CTAs and nursing homes are just some of the places where USTA Colorado has planted the seeds of tennis through grants, totaling more than $35,000 in 2007! Twice a year (April 1 and October 1 deadlines) USTA Colorado and the Colorado Youth Tennis Foundation accept grant applications from organizations located in rural, mountain, city and suburban Colorado communities that are seeking dollars to get a program started or to expand the scope of an existing tennis program. Funds specifically earmarked for adult/senior, adaptive, multicultural participation and youth ensure financial support is available for programs reaching any component of the population. Adopt-A-Court grants help communities' renovate cracked and worn out tennis courts. The answers to many funding questions, as well as a grant application, can be found at COLORADOTENNIS.com under the Community section. The Intermountain Section and USTA also have grant programs in place to support efforts to grow the game at the grassroots level.

CAPITALIZING ON THE MOMENTUM

Some welcomed challenges that come along with this increased participation include having enough volunteers and people working with us to bring tennis to all corners of the state. Diversity efforts are going strong and we welcome more individuals getting involved with this initiative.

We are also doing all we can to ensure enough quality tennis instructors/staff are equipped to introduce tennis to entry-level players. USTA Colorado is doing its best to develop quality instructors who have the tools to develop structure tennis programs around the state. We are constantly seeking enthusiastic tennis players and instructors who want to get involved with community-based tennis programs on a volunteer basis. To support these individuals, at least four Recreational Coach Workshops are scheduled during the first half of 2008 to provide tennis instruction and coaching to recreational tennis instructors and coaches in a 6-hour on court format. Organized Play Workshops are a new 90-120 minute training that teaches games-based formats to those focused on extracurricular, school-based tennis programs.

NEED A PARTNER?

For more than a half century, USTA Colorado has governed the sport of tennis in our state. As we begin the next 50 years, we are more committed than ever to grassroots efforts to offer quality tennis programs on first-rate tennis courts in communities across the state. By providing resources like education, training, funding and technical expertise, we can assist communities in their efforts to keep kids safe, to offer healthy activities, to bring people together and to improve the overall quality of life through tennis. Contact us or visit COLORADOTENNIS.com to join us in this endeavor.

AT USTA COLORADO, WE BELIEVE EVERY CHILD SHOULD LEARN HOW TO PLAY TENNIS

Nearly 20% of children 6-8 are overweight, which astonishingly has increased nearly 200% over the past three decades. Many experts believe this is due in part to children not being regularly active in sports or other physically enduring games. Tennis is a sport that develops all the most important motor and coordinative skills from an early age. It requires and develops agility, speed and endurance. All of these skills will benefit a child's long-term health and performance in all sports.

Tennis is a technically demanding sport. To improve, a child has to be able to concentrate well and apply themselves to the many challenges that the game brings. As an individual sport, tennis requires and develops confidence and the ability to cope with and perform under pressure. You have to be able to bounce back from disappointments, cope with success and, occasionally, failure. The fantastic news for parents (and kids) is that research has shown that children who develop these skills through sport can transfer them into other areas of their lives.

Tennis provides children with a place they can go and be independent, meet friends and be active. It also provides children with a way of meeting new friends whenever they move to a new area. Whether it is moving to a new school or to a new job, the local tennis court will always provide great social opportunities.

Tennis is a game that you can play your entire life. Most people retire from highly physical sports – particularly those that involve contact – fairly early in their lives. Tennis allows you to be active for much longer than most other sports.

Family time can revolve around a tennis match. There are few sports that offer the opportunity to play with your kids, side by side, as they grow older. Much has been written about how an afternoon of tennis provides a chance for families to spend time together outside of the chaos of everyday life.

Tennis is gender and skill level neutral. Mixed crowds and players of varying skill levels can all get along and enjoy the opportunity to get some exercise and have fun together.

Today, kids have more options than ever for what to do with their free time. Tennis no longer has to compete with other traditional sports alone. The marketplace in the sporting world has continued to grow exponentially with the rise of “extreme” and other non-traditional sports. And, of course, in addition to athletics, tennis goes head-to-head with technology – including computers, the internet, video games, and iPods.

Tennis is just one sport that can get children physically fit (as it works out the arms, legs and cardiovascular), but tennis is also a sport that has psychological benefits to go with it.

INTRODUCING THE QUICKSTART TENNIS FORMAT

the new way to play for kids 10 and under

Studies have indicated that those taking part in sports activities on a regular basis showed an increase in academic performance and memory. Scientists at the University of Illinois found that tennis might actually generate new connections between the nerves in the brain, due to the sport’s requirement of alertness and tactical thinking.

The vast array of play choices for children means that tennis has to be – more than ever before – especially accessible, fun and easy to play. To get children into the game and to keep them playing, there needs to be a fast and fun way for them to get started.

TRY THIS ON FOR SIZE

QuickStart utilizes two court sizes to maximize the players' enjoyment and skill development.

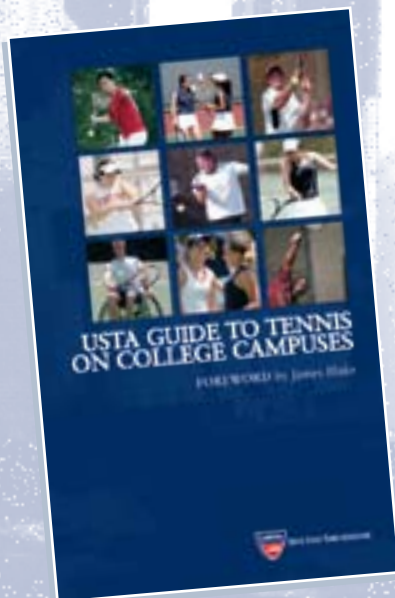

The 8 & unders use one-half of a doubles court (see diagram). At 36'x18' and with a shorter net (2'9"), kids find it easier to sustain a rally and develop angles at a much earlier age. One bonus for busy facilities: four matches can be going simultaneously in this setup.

The 10 & unders utilize the full court, but with temporary lines trimming the overall area back (60'x21' singles, 60'x27' doubles), virtually cutting in half the amount of court a developing player has to cover.

With this in mind, the USTA – with input and support from the Tennis Industry Association, PTR, USPTA, and NRPA – has developed a new play format aimed at children 10 & under, with the express purpose of getting them in the game, playing quickly, and keeping them in the game.

This new format, QuickStart Tennis, will launch officially in March 2008. QuickStart will utilize court size, equipment (racquets and balls) and scoring that will be tailored to the age and size of the children playing.

"The QuickStart format is tennis scaled to the size of the child, utilizing age appropriate equipment, including smaller racquets, lower bouncing balls, and smaller courts," said USTA'S Kurt Kamperman, Chief Executive, Community Tennis. "By enabling kids to start playing right away, we are allowing them to learn as they play."

Indeed, that idea is the core of Many aspects of the QuickStart Tennis format have been utilized before. Transition balls and smaller courts have been seen around tennis for years. But, aligning these elements with age, racquet size and scoring methods is what makes this format different, and more effective.

QuickStart. After all, the majority of youth sports have followed this very formula for years. Baseball begins with smaller bats, smaller fields, and progresses from tee ball, to coach pitch, to player pitch. Basketball and soccer also utilize similar methods, including shortened playing surfaces and age- and size-appropriate equipment.

By being introduced to this style of play from the start, children gain confidence by seeing their immediate progress, and will therefore have a desire to keep playing.

To further emphasize the importance of properly sized equipment and courts, the QuickStart format is broken down into two age groups: 8 & under and 10 & under.

For children 8 & under, the size of the court will be 36' x 18'. The set-up utilizes doubles sidelines as the baselines, and from the baseline to the service line as the new sidelines. Racquets will be up to 23" in size, making them easier to control than larger-sized racquets. The balls, either a foam ball or a very low compression ball, will also match the abilities of the child, bouncing lower and traveling less distance. This will teach the child to have proper swing technique, with the ball bouncing into their "comfort zones." The net height will be 2' 9", making it easier for the child to continue the rally. Finally, scoring is brought down to a much simpler level – best of three games, with the first player to win seven points winning the game – and a shorter time.

For children 10 & under, the size of the court will be 60' x 21' (60' x 27' for doubles). The racquet will be up to 25" in size, still manageable, but increasing with their body-size and age. The ball, a low-compression ball, travels a little faster and farther than the ball utilized by the 8 & under group. It will still have a lower bounce than the standard tennis ball. Scoring becomes best of three sets, with 4 games winning a set, and the third set being first to 7 points (if necessary).

"The beauty of the QuickStart Tennis format is that it brings the kids into the game immediately and gets them rallying by the end of their first time out on the court, because the game is finally brought to their size and speed" said Kirk Anderson, Director, Recreational Coaches & Programs, USTA. "The format is easily incorporated into any existing programming, from lesson plans to competition, which allows for this to integrate into all facets of tennis."

That is obviously essential, because it does not mean that new lesson plans, new programming and new competitions have to be created. QuickStart just enables kids to have more quality experiences early on, which keeps them in the game. And more kids in the game obviously equates to more kids on the courts.

That's another benefit of QuickStart. It allows for more kids to be on the court at once. This is because facilities can put multiple 36' courts onto a regulation court at once. In fact, one could have as many as six 36' courts on one regulation court at once. On both sides of the court you could have: (1) net to service line, (2) service line to baseline and (3) baseline to the edge of the backcourt.

And by getting more kids playing more quickly in a more enjoyable environment, QuickStart ought to prove an effective tool in increasing participation. By having more kids in the game, it's possible to have more high level players down the road.

"QuickStart will make a significant impact on the skill development of players in the United States," said Paul Roetert, Managing Director, Player

Tennis. College. You. Game On.

Development, USTA. "By bringing more kids into the game at a young age, and by providing them with a play format that helps them to utilize proper stroke technique and overall skill development, we will increase the pool of high level players throughout the country."

Many aspects of QuickStart have been utilized before. Transition balls and smaller courts have been seen around tennis for years. But aligning these elements with age, racquet size and scoring methods is what makes this format different, and more effective.

"Pros have been using slower balls and smaller courts for years, but this will help to set standard specifications that can be consistent whenever the QuickStart format is used, which has never been done before," said Kamperman. "What is also important is that in the past the use of different equipment or shortened courts was only used in lesson plans, but our goal is to have this format incorporated into all aspects of youth tennis, including competition."

QuickStart will roll-out in 2008 in over 1,000 facilities, which are expected to incorporate it within their existing 10 & under programming. In the upcoming year the USTA will work with the PTR to organize and implement training sessions, both to coaches and volunteers including parents, to help proliferate the format. In addition, the USTA has begun incorporating the format into USTA Junior Team Tennis, and its tournament offerings. In succeeding years, it will continue to be implemented into programming with the goal of reaching all aspects of 10 & under youth tennis, including tournament, lesson based, recreational and team play.

QUICKSTART TENNIS IN COLORADO

The USTA will officially launch QuickStart Tennis in Spring 2008, and USTA Colorado is excited to assist facilities in implementing the new format.

USTA Colorado coordinates junior league play for participants of all levels and ages (5-18). These leagues are open to all players, a USTA membership is not required unless noted.

QUICKSTART TENNIS: Unveiled by the USTA in 2008, QuickStart Tennis is an introductory format for kids 10 & under (see article beginning on page 14). USTA Colorado is looking for facilities to offer QuickStart. For information, please contact USTA Colorado.

MICRO TENNIS: A non-traditional, entry-level program consisting of matches and practices for children, ages 5 to 13, who want to compete in tennis but are not ready for the traditional USTA Junior Team Tennis program. Matches are team-oriented in a non-threatening setting with practices run by parents with the assistance of a Micro Tennis Mentor. Teams consist of six to eight players. Matches are held on Saturday or Sunday afternoons for six weeks beginning mid-June. Parents are encouraged to attend matches, sit on the court and cheer. To find a tennis facility offering Micro Tennis near you, contact USTA Colorado.

SPRING SINGLES: Boys and girls ages 8 through 18 play a singles match every Saturday afternoon for five weeks beginning April 19, 2008. Matches are best of three sets with no-ad scoring. A match tie-break is played in lieu of a third set. This league is ideal for Intermediate and Advanced level players. Match locations are Arvada Tennis Center, Holly Tennis Center (Centennial), Ken-Caryl Ranch (Littleton) and Meadow Hills Park (Aurora). Each participant will play at the same location each week. Registration deadline is April 1.

FALL SINGLES: Boys and girls ages 8 through 18 play a singles match every Saturday afternoon for five weeks beginning September 6, 2008. Matches are best of three sets with no-ad scoring. A match tie-break is played in lieu of a third set. This league is ideal for Intermediate and Advanced level players. Match locations are Arvada Tennis Center, Holly Tennis Center, Ken-Caryl Ranch and Meadow Hills Park. Each participant will play at the same location each week. Registration deadline is August 19.

USTA JUNIOR TEAM TENNIS: The focus of Junior Team Tennis is on enjoying the exhilaration of exercise and refining the skills that make tennis fun for players of all ages and levels of competition in a team format.

The USTA offers two tracks for the program: championship and recreational. USTA Colorado has been offering the Recreational Track for more than a decade. No USTA membership is required. Gender specific teams in one of four age divisions (10 & under, 12 & under, 14 & under or 18 & under) compete against other teams of similar ability levels in the same geographic region. Ideal for players of all ability levels, the Recreational Track offers levels for beginner, intermediate and advanced players (playing characteristics of each level is available at COLORADOTENNIS.com).

The format is two singles matches and one doubles match. The team winning the most games wins the team match. Contact a tennis facility near you to register. The deadline is May 28, 2008 to create a team. Division-winning teams are invited to compete at the State Championships, August 8-10 at facilities across the Denver metro area.

The Championship Track requires a USTA membership and features co-ed team play with the opportunity to advance to Sectional and National playoffs. Players compete in intermediate and advanced divisions in one of two age groups, 14 & under or 18 & under. USTA Colorado will offer a Sectional Qualifying tournament in July 2008 for teams looking to attend the Junior Team Tennis Sectional Championships, August 1-3.

The Club at Flying Horse offers many exciting programs for Adults and Juniors looking for a physical workout, competitive play or just want to have fun learning a lifetime sport. TENNIS IS THE SPORT FOR A LIFETIME.

WHATEVER YOUR AGE AND SKILL, YOU CAN BENEFIT FROM THE MANY HEALTH AND SOCIAL BENEFITS TENNIS HAS TO OFFER.

Why do you play tennis?

Do you enjoy it for the fun, the friendships or the competition? Or do you just love a good workout? Whatever your personal motives are, you're one of the half million people in Colorado who enjoy tennis, just one of the reasons Colorado is routinely named as the nation's healthiest state.

Tennis is fun. It can also be challenging, especially if you're just learning, but it is also a sport in which lessons, practice and persistence pay off quickly.

Tennis is a sport you can enjoy playing on a team, as an individual or with your family. You can escape from life's stresses and it offers a great opportunity to socialize, particularly if you join a local club or frequent public courts.

It's also a great way to keep in shape. It improves flexibility, stamina, speed, strength and hand-eye coordination. It exercises all major muscle groups, providing a full-body workout. Even if you only play a couple of times a week you can feel the benefit. In just 30 minutes you will be burning about 150 calories, depending on the intensity.

And perhaps the best part is, it doesn't cost a lot. For about the cost of a single day skiing, you can join a tennis league and play for the entire summer, and still have money left over to buy a round for all your new friends that you met on the court.

We invite you to get on court today! USTA Colorado offers numerous adult league opportunities for players of every age – 19 and older as of 12/31/2008, unless otherwise noted – and every ability level (beginner through expert).

LEAGUE TENNIS

Offering one of the country's largest recreational tennis league menus, USTA Colorado's Adult League Series provides organized and structured team matches for more than 25,000 men and women throughout the state.

Teams are formed according to NTRP rating (for a complete description of the National Tennis Rating Program, please visit COLORADOTENNIS.com) so players are assured of competing against opponents of comparable ability, which keeps the game lively and the atmosphere social. And as part of a team, you've got a built-in support entourage that few tour pros can match. Whether you're a beginner or an experienced netter, we've got a team for players like you.

USTA Colorado also offers several senior leagues for those who want to "act their age." Players 50 and older (or turning 50 by 12/31/2008) are invited to participate in the USTA Senior League, 55 and up in the recreational CTA Senior Breakfast League, and 60 and up (or turning 60 by 12/31/2008) are welcome in the USTA Super Senior League. All adult leagues require a USTA membership unless otherwise noted. A summary of each league can be found on page 26.

USTA League Tennis is the largest recreational league in the nation, giving players the opportunity to compete on teams in a local league season, culminating in a District/State Championship. Teams may advance to Sectional, Regional and/or National Championships. Players must be 19 years old as of 12/31/2008 (unless otherwise noted). A current USTA Membership is required.

USTA MIXED: The format for this spring league will be three (3) mixed doubles matches per weekly team match. The levels will be combined NTRP levels totaling 6.0, 7.0, 8.0, 9.0, and 10.0. Players are allowed to play on up to two teams at different levels through Sectionals. The NTRP rating spread between partners cannot be more than 1.0. (i.e. in the 8.0 level, a 3.0 cannot play with a 5.0).

USTA ADULT: The format for this summer league will be men's and women's NTRP levels 2.5-5.0 including the Open division. The 2.5 and Open levels play two doubles matches and one singles match per weekly team match. The 3.0, 3.5, 4.0, and 4.5 NTRP levels will play three doubles matches and two singles matches per weekly team match. Players may only play on one team.

USTA SENIOR: The format for this summer league is men's and women's NTRP levels 3.0-4.5. There will be three doubles matches per weekly team match. Players must be at least 50 years of age by December 31, 2008 to compete in this league. Players may only play on one team.

USTA SUPER SENIOR: The format for this summer league is men's and women's combined NTRP levels 6.0, 7.0, and 8.0. There will be three doubles matches per weekly team match. Players must be at least 60 years of age by December 31, 2008 to compete in this league. Players may play on up to two teams at different levels through Sectionals.

CTA WOMEN'S DAYTIME DOUBLES: The format for this summer league is women's NTRP levels of 2.5-5.0. There will be three doubles matches per weekly team match. Each team must have at least 50% of the rostered players in the appropriate NTRP level. For an uneven number of team members we will round down – i.e., 9 players on the team, 4 must be in level. Players may only play on one team.

CTA TWILIGHT: The format for this summer league is men's and women's NTRP levels 2.5-5.5. There will be two singles matches and one doubles match per weekly team match. Players may only play on one team.

CTA WOMEN'S SUMMER DAYTIME: The format for this late-summer league will be Women's NTRP levels 2.5-5.0. There will be one singles match and two doubles matches per weekly team match. Players may only play on one team.

CTA MEN'S TRI-LEVEL SINGLES: The format for this fall league will be three men's singles matches per weekly team match. Each team will consist of three different NTRP levels. One singles for each level: 3.0, 3.5, 4.0. Players must play at the appropriate NTRP level and cannot play up to the next level. Matches will begin on Saturday afternoons at 3:00pm on August 18. Players may only play on one team.

ITA FALL MIXED: The format for this fall league will be three mixed doubles matches per weekly team match. The levels will be combined NTRP levels totaling 5.5, 6.5, 7.5, 8.5, and 9.5. The NTRP rating spread between partners cannot be more than 1.0. (i.e. in the 7.5 level, a 3.0 cannot play with a 4.5). Players may play on up to two teams at different levels through Sectionals.

SENIOR BREAKFAST LEAGUE: Weekly morning mixed doubles matches for players age 55 and over (as of December 31, 2008) are held at various locations in the Denver-Metro area. Three seasonal sessions are offered: Spring, Summer and Fall. Contact the USTA Colorado League Department for more information.

WORLD TEAM TENNIS: An exciting and different way to play league tennis that is growing in popularity at all levels – beginners through professionals! Colorado Springs and Denver metro leagues offered. Open to players 18 & older as of 12/31/2008. A USTA membership is not required. For more information, please visit COLORADOTENNIS.com or WTT.com.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Kids learn the basics of sportsmanship from their peers, older players, and especially their parents and coaches. Kids who see others behaving in a sportsmanlike way come to understand that the real winners in sports are those who know how to persevere and behave with dignity – win or lose.

Parents and mentors can help their kids understand that good sportsmanship includes both small gestures and heroic efforts. It starts with something as simple as shaking hands with opponents before a match and includes acknowledging good shots made by others and accepting bad calls gracefully. Displaying good sportsmanship isn't always easy: It can be tough to congratulate the opposing player after losing a close or important match. But the kids who learn how to do it will benefit in many ways.

A child who bullies or taunts others on the court isn't likely to change the behavior when in the classroom or in social situations. In the same way, a child who practices good sportsmanship is likely to carry the respect and appreciation of other people into every other aspect of life.

TOURNAMENT TENNIS 101:

YOUR GUIDE TO TOURNAMENT PLAY IN COLORADO

For many players, the word tournament conjures up images of professional athletes slugging it out on a far-away continent in front of thousands of fans and with millions of dollars on the line.

But for the vast majority of players, tournament tennis is really about sowing their competitive oats at a local event, far removed from the cameras and the throngs of cheering spectators.

In fact, most of the crowds at these events consist of parents, children, husbands and wives and perhaps a handful of friends and other familiar faces. The environment is competitive, but nurturing. Tournaments also provide a chance to meet new friends, see old acquaintances, and get in a great workout. Some events even host player barbecues and dish out cool giveaways. A growing number of junior events provide lunch, a player pool party and a full day's worth of scheduled match play, so you can plan your life around the event.

The 2008 Colorado Sanctioned Tournament Schedule lists nearly 150 events that will test your skills, provide you the chance to meet new people, and give you the opportunity to change it up from your everyday social matches and weekly league play. Tournaments exist to provide a meaningful and inspiring experience to all entrants, with lots of good competition so that everyone will continue to play and enjoy the game.

SANCTIONED TOURNAMENTS & MEMBERSHIP:

USTA Colorado endorses events that meet certain USTA criteria for quality and consistency. Only Sanctioned Event results count toward state rankings and NTRP ratings. Non-sanctioned tournament results do not factor into rankings nor ratings.

All NTRP, Senior, Championship and Wheelchair sanctioned events require a current USTA membership, as do Junior Championship and Satellite events. Junior Novice and non-Sanctioned events do not require a USTA membership. In an effort to inspire junior beginner players to participate in tournament play, USTA Colorado will purchase a USTA Junior Membership for any novice junior wanting to compete in Satellite events. Contact Jason Colter, USTA-CO Player Development Director, jason@coloradotennis.com for details.

But sanctioned tournaments are not the only events you should consider if you're looking for competitive matches. There may be dozens of non-sanctioned events taking place at facilities across the state that are not listed in these pages. Check the bulletin board at your local facility for information about those events.

If you're new to tournament tennis, you may not be completely familiar with the various types of events offered, or how one format may be more to your liking than another. We encourage you to take the time to read through our 2008 Colorado Tournament Guide, and acquaint yourself with the different types of formats that you're likely to encounter this year. And if you're really into playing tournaments, be sure to sign up to receive BLAST!, USTA Colorado's monthly e-newsletter. Each issue contains a list of upcoming events and links to each tournament.

FINDING THE RIGHT EVENT:

Many factors can help determine the right event for you or your child. Age, skill level, fitness and length of tournament can all be deciding factors in determining which tournaments you should enter. Here's some basic information about the types of events Colorado has to offer:

Junior Novice:

Novice events offer juniors the opportunity to experience tournament play and competition in a supportive and non-threatening environment.

Novice players have no previous competitive experience in tournament play (above the novice level), and have typically played tennis for two years or less. Because these events are non-sanctioned, a USTA membership is not required and results do not count towards rankings.

Junior Satellite:

Satellite events offer junior players the opportunity to experience the next level of competitive play. Acting as a bridge between Novice and Championship-level events, Satellite events cater to players with one to three years of beginning competitive experience (i.e., novice tournaments, CARA, novice or intermediate USTA Junior Team Tennis play). Once a player has gained confidence in novice tournaments, or has won a total of three different novice events in any combination of singles, doubles, or mixed, that player can reasonably compete at the Satellite level.

A player is ineligible for the Satellite level play if:

1. Player attained a National or Sectional (Intermountain region) ranking the previous year;
2. Player reached:
 - a) the quarterfinals of a Designated Championship tournament (in-district), or
 - b) the semifinals of any sanctioned Championship tournament event (in-district).

A Satellite Ineligibility List will be published annually based on the prior year's results. The Seeding & Ranking Committee periodically may determine additional players to be ineligible for Satellite level play based on recent Championship or Satellite tournament results. Players are strongly encouraged to play within their age group in the Championship level rather than playing up an age group in the Satellite level. The Seeding and Ranking Committee will consider written appeals from players for the Satellite ineligible list until April 14, 2008.

Junior Championship:

The Championship level is designed for the junior player who is seeking the highest level of junior competition in Colorado. Satellite players who are seeking more advanced tournament play may also compete at this level.

Players listed on the 2008 Satellite Ineligible List – published on COLORADOTENNIS.com in March 2008 – are required to play at this level. Juniors seeking to compete at the Sectional and National levels are encouraged to compete in Championship-level events.

NTRP Events:

Designed to pit players of compatible skill against one another. NTRP levels range from 2.5 to 5.0 Note: players rated above 5.0 are required to play in the Open division; any junior player 18 & under MUST play in the Open division, unless the player turns 19 by December 31, 2008. They are then eligible to compete in an NTRP event, but must contact the Tournament Director for entry.

You may play at or above your specific NTRP level, but not below your rating. If you don't have a current rating, you may self-rate and play in that division. For information on NTRP ratings, see COLORADOTENNIS.com.

Senior Events:

Also called age division events, these pit players 30 and older against similarly aged competitors. But be aware: there are no skill parameters in Senior Events. A player in the draw may be an expert, a novice, or anywhere in between. Players must be of division age by December 31, 2008, and may not play in an older division.

IT'S TIME TO PLAY

We hope you have found this guide useful. If you have any questions or you need additional information, please contact USTA Colorado.

TOURNAMENT CHECKLIST:

13 THINGS EVERY TOURNAMENT PLAYER SHOULD KNOW

GETTING "HELP" AT COLORADOTENNIS.com:

Not to be biased, but our search features are infinitely simpler and more accurate than the USTA's TennisLink. Hit COLORADOTENNIS.com and use the "Helpful Links" dropdown menu. Click "Find a Tourney". You can search by tournament name, or division. You can also look for tournaments in progress, those open for registration and completed tournaments. Finding a court has never been easier. Click "Find a Court", type in the name of the facility and Bob's Your Uncle. It's like having an EASY BUTTON.

CHECKING YOUR STANDING

You're not vain, you just want to see where you stand in your division. Just go to COLORADOTENNIS.com and use the "Helpful Links" menu to access division standings.

HEY, THAT KID ISN'T OLD ENOUGH TO PLAY NTRP!

Any player that is 18 years-old, but will be turning 19 by Dec. 31, 2008, is eligible to participate in Adult NTRP events. But there's a catch for 18s who want to register for an event: TennisLink is not set up to accommodate you, so you must contact the tournament director to register for the event. They will happily enter you into the draw.

FIND WHAT YOU NEED: COLORADOTENNIS.com

Finding important information is easy at COLORADOTENNIS.com.

Just use the "Helpful Links" dropdown menu to help you REGISTER for a tournament, VIEW draws, FIND a court, CHECK your standings and much more.

VERIFY ALL TOURNAMENT INFORMATION ONLINE

Players are encouraged to verify all tournament information online. Look for draw times, weather announcements, schedule changes, hotel information etc. Tournament directors will try to update information whenever possible.

VERIFY ALL DRAW TIMES

It is the players' responsibility to obtain and verify all match times. Check the event's online listing two days prior to the start of the event, or verify with tournament staff.

TENNISLINK/ACTIVE.COM FEE

Last year, all TennisLink events joined the Active.com network, resulting in a processing fee of $3 per event entry. For example, if a tournament charges $25 for a singles event, you will be charged $28 for that event. Please note this is an Active.com fee, not a fee charged by the tournament.

KNOW AND OBSERVE "THE CODE"

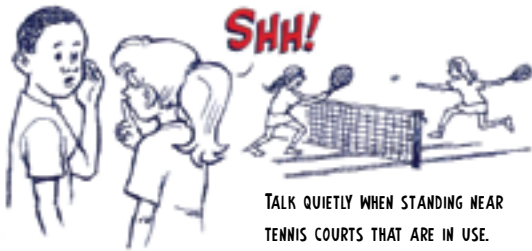

If you have not already done so, try and familiarize yourself with "The Code" (see next page). This can help if any issues or questions arise during a match and there is not an umpire on site. You can find the code in the FRIEND AT COURT or online at COLORADOTENNIS.com.

FINISH THE LIST ON PAGE 64

ABOUT THE CODE:

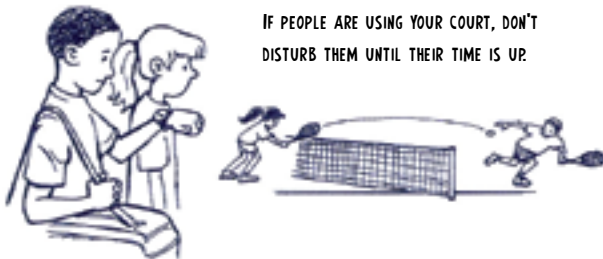

THE CODE IS A SUMMARY OF PROCEDURES AND UNWRITTEN RULES THAT TRADITION DICTATES PLAYERS AND SPECTATORS SHOULD FOLLOW. THE CODE IS NOT PART OF THE OFFICIAL RULES OF TENNIS, BUT ALL PLAYERS SHOULD BE AWARE OF AND FOLLOW THE CODE DURING ALL UNOFFICIATED MATCHES.

IF YOU AND YOUR OPPONENT FOLLOW THE RULES OF TENNIS AND TREAT EACH OTHER WITH RESPECT, YOU'LL BOTH GET THE MOST ENJOYMENT FROM THE GAME, REGARDLESS OF WHO WINS.

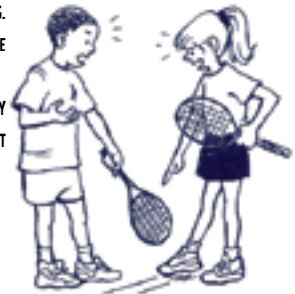

TALK QUIETLY WHEN STANDING NEAR TENNIS COURTS THAT ARE IN USE.

DON'T WALK ACROSS THE BACK OF ANOTHER COURT UNTIL THE PLAYERS HAVE FINISHED PLAYING A POINT. THIS CAN BE DISTRACTING TO THEM AND AFFECT THEIR PLAY.

IF PEOPLE ARE USING YOUR COURT, DON'T DISTURB THEM UNTIL THEIR TIME IS UP.

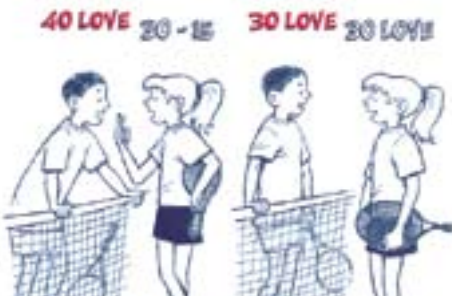

KEEP THE GAME MOVING. DON'T STALL AND WASTE TIME BETWEEN POINTS. ACCEPT ALL CALLS MADE BY YOUR OPPONENT - WITHOUT ARGUING OR SULKING.

KEEP A POSITIVE OUTLOOK THROUGHOUT THE MATCH. REMEMBER, YOU'RE PLAYING FOR THE FUN OF IT.

IF YOUR BALLS GOES INTO THE NEXT COURT, WAIT UNTIL THE PLAYERS ON THAT COURT FINISH THE POINT BEFORE YOU ASK FOR THE BALL. IF A BALL COMES ONTO YOUR COURT, RETURN IT AS SOON AS PLAY HAS STOPPED ON BOTH COURTS.

IF THERE IS A DISAGREEMENT ON THE SCORE, GO BACK TO THE LAST SCORE YOU BOTH AGREE ON. TO AVOID THE PROBLEM, THE SERVER SHOULD CALL OUT THE SCORE PRIOR TO EACH SERVE.

AFTER THE LAST POINT, COME TO THE NET QUICKLY AND SHAKE HANDS. LET YOUR OPPONENT KNOW THAT YOU APPRECIATED THE MATCH, NO MATTER WHAT THE OUTCOME.

RANKINGS REQUIREMENTS

COLORADO RANKINGS SHIFT TO POINTS PER ROUND

Beginning in 2008, all Senior, NTRP, Championship, Family events, and Junior Satellite tournaments will be utilizing a Points Per Round (PPR) system to determine Colorado rankings (Junior Championship made the switch to PPR in 2007).

PPR is very simple process. Players earn points for each win, plus earn bonus points for wins over "Top 20" players. Sanctioned events are broken down to Designated/Level 1 and non-Designated/Level 2 tournaments (see chart below).

Level 1 tournaments carry more points than Level 2 events.

The USTA Colorado Ranking Review Committee reserves the right to modify the ranking requirements if deemed necessary or appropriate.

2008 RANKING REQUIREMENTS (ALL EVENTS EXCEPT JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP)

NTRP SINGLES/DOUBLES REQUIREMENTS:

Players accumulating a minimum of 150 points during the calendar year will earn a year-end ranking. Only a player's three best results* at Colorado sanctioned events will count towards a ranking.

SENIOR DIVISION (30-80), CHAMPIONSHIP & FAMILY REQUIREMENTS:

Players accumulating a minimum of 100 points during the calendar year will earn a year-end ranking. Only a player's two best results at Colorado sanctioned events* will count towards a ranking.

JUNIOR SATELLITE REQUIREMENTS:

Players accumulating a minimum of 150 points during the calendar year will earn a year-end ranking. Only a player's three best results* at Colorado sanctioned events will count towards a ranking.

2008 RANKING REQUIREMENTS (JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP ONLY)

Players accumulating a minimum of 200 points during the calendar year will earn a year-end ranking. Only a player's five best results* at Colorado sanctioned events will count towards a ranking.

Unlike the standing lists, year-end rankings points will not count down to the lower age division.

HOW POINTS DETERMINE YOUR RANKING/STANDING

| Bonus Point Table | |
|-----------------------------|--------------|
| Standing of Player Defeated | Bonus Points |
| 1-5 | 20 |
| 6-10 | 15 |
| 11-15 | 10 |
| 16-20 | 5 |

*Only a player's top X results (number depends on division) will count toward Colorado ranking/standings. If a player has more tournaments on his/her record, the ranking program automatically drops the lower scores and keeps the best results.

Rankings/standings points include PPR from the tables PLUS any Bonus Points (see table at left) earned at the tournament. These Bonus Points are attached to the event in which they are earned. If a tournament is not among the player's best events, neither the PPR nor the bonus points for that event will count toward the player's total.

Last year, USTA Colorado switched to a Points Per Round (PPR) ranking system for all Colorado Junior Championship Events. Both the USTA and Intermountain Section – as well as most USTA Sections nationwide – had adopted this system, and the switch made Colorado events consistent with those tournaments at the National and Sectional levels (see page 38 for a synopsis of the PPR system).

PROS & CONS

According to Bethany Schott, Player Development Coordinator for the USTA/Intermountain Section, the move to PPR is a positive step for players and tournaments alike.

"There are a bunch of advantages for players and tournaments at the District level," says Schott, "including increased tournament participation, streamlined and consistent rankings, and finally, players can't hide in this system – in order to generate a ranking, players will have to compete."

But as with any change, there will likely be some growing pains.

"Many junior players will be playing up a level rather than their actual age," she explains. "It may be hard to get a true reflection of a player's ranking in the lower or higher age divisions (based on where they play the majority of their tournaments)."

The way the CTA will counteract this is that the points will carry down. Thus, if a 14 year-old player was playing in all 16s tournaments, those tournaments would show up on their 14s and 16s record.

The rumor that PPR only benefits the wealthy who can travel to tournaments and "chase points" is not a concern in our Section and District, says Schott. We only count the top five results in a 12-month period, so an average player that plays in every tournament does not have advantage over a great player who does well in six or seven major tournaments.

According to Schott, the biggest challenge with PPR is aging up.

AGING UP

Deciding when to start playing up (or playing in an age division higher than yours) is a common dilemma that many parents and players face when deciding on their tournament schedule for the year.

The best way to answer the question is to determine what your goals are as a junior player. Are you a recreational player that enjoys participating in local Colorado tournaments only? Or is it your goal to travel to different tournaments around the Section with the hopes of earning an Intermountain or National ranking? If you lean toward the recreational side, you should continue playing at the local level, and play in the higher age division when you feel you need better competition. If you have aspirations of making it big on the Sectional or National level, Schott has compiled some ideas for you to consider.

First, identify when your birthday lands in respect to the Intermountain Sectional tournaments. Next, determine when you are hoping to move up in the age division. From that point on you will need to determine when to start playing in the higher age division.

"I would recommend playing up at District tournaments at least 6-9 months in advance, if not sooner," says Schott.

District tournaments are a fantastic way to play up an age division. These results will improve your standings in both your current age division and the higher age division (as points carry down). In some District tournaments it is also acceptable for you to play in two age divisions, with both of those events counting toward your point standings.

Getting accepted into the ITA Circuit tournaments is very competitive. There is a 32-player limit in each age, so it is imperative that you start working on improving your ITA Standing well in advance. Keep in mind that none of your points will carry up to your higher age division. You must start over.

Once you get five solid District tournaments on your Intermountain record, you should be sitting well for most of the Circuit events. The Easter Circuit is a 64-player draw, which makes it a good event at which to age up. In addition, the Section has added a 16s and 18s age division at the Memorial Day Circuit so it will be easier to get into that tournament as well. Our recommendation would be to have played at least one Circuit tournament prior to applying into a Sectional tournament.

Remember, the better you do in the District tournaments, the better your chances are at getting into the ITA Circuit and Sectional tournaments.

MODIFIED FORMATS

FMLC: First Match Losers Consolation – A draw in which the first-round losers and second round losers who advanced to that round by virtue of a bye or default enter the consolation draw.

FRLC: First Round Losers Consolation – A draw in which only the first-round losers enter the consolation draw.

MFIC: Modified Feed-In Consolation – A draw in which the main draw losers are fed back into another draw against players who lost in earlier rounds of the tournament.

ROUND ROBINS – Multiple match guarantees as players compete against all other players in their flight.

COMPASS DRAWS – Player-friendly formats guaranteeing players multiple matches, even if they lose every match. A non-elimination format that is so named because players advance in four to eight different directions depending upon when they lose their first match and when they lose their subsequent matches.

WHEELCHAIR

USTA Colorado is proud to have introduced wheelchair tennis rankings in 2002. If a wheelchair player competes in at least one sanctioned state tournament, the player will receive a state ranking or honorable mention. There are four sanctioned wheelchair tournaments in Colorado – Valerie Walls Memorial (Boulder), Northern Colorado (Fort Collins), Rocky Mountain Wheelchair Open (Denver) and Highlands Ranch. If a player earned a national ranking and played in at least one state sanctioned event, s/he will receive a ranking with the national ranking and state tournament results taken into consideration. Individual national tournament results will not be used.

WHAT EVERY TOURNAMENT PLAYER NEEDS TO KNOW
(FROM PAGE 36)

KEEP YOUR INFORMATION
CURRENT WITH THE USTA

In addition to ensuring that you'll receive your Big Book and other vital Colorado Tennis publications, keeping the USTA up to date on your contact info is very helpful to tournament directors in case they need to reach you for any reason during an event (see Rain Delay, Default, etc.).

POINTS PER ROUND

The USTA Colorado Ranking Review Committee is covering rankings for all divisions to Points Per Round (PPR). Please see page 38 for a complete description.

TOURNAMENT'S DISCRETION

Seedings for Colorado events reflect the most current published Standing Lists. If Joe Smith is #1 in Men's 4.0 singles, he will be seeded #1 in that event. Also, please note that a tournament director and/or committee can alter the schedule or scoring format due to inclement weather or size of the tournament.

CHECKING IN

Please plan to arrive at your tournament site at least 15

The Official Handbook of Tennis Rules and Regulations (including The Code), FRIEND AT COURT is an essential piece of equipment for every tennis player. The 2008 edition is now available, contact USTA Colorado for purchasing information: 303/695-4116.

minutes prior to your first match. This can help in getting matches on earlier if courts are available and is very much appreciated by tournament staff.

WARMING UP ON TOURNAMENT DAY

Not many events boast open courts during the tournament, so any warm-up prior to a match should be done at a different location. Use the Court Locator at COLORADOTENNIS.com to find public courts near the site to warm-up prior to your match.

COME PREPARED WITH THE ESSENTIALS

Don't assume all sites have water on the courts. Come prepared with plenty of fresh water, a hat and sunscreen, especially for those hot summertime matches. Players of all levels should come prepared to every match with at least two freshly strung tennis racquets. If you break a string or even a racquet it is always reassuring to know that you have a back up that you feel comfortable with. This also helps to ensure matches remain on time and don't cause delays looking to borrow or demo racquets. Showing up without the essentials could easily mean the difference between winning and losing.

space?

The USTA Colorado offices are being vacated as we are relocating to Gates Tennis Center. The space has been home to the CTA for 4 years and before that housed Make A Wish Foundation.

Unique office environment in park like setting with lush landscaping, streams & ponds. Adjacent to the Highline Canal, with jogging and bicycle trails just outside your door. Patios & decks in many units. Individual exterior entrances, individually controlled HVAC units & operable windows. Excellent access to Cherry Creek & the suburbs through Parker Road. NOT RECYCLING THIS MAGAZINE WILL CREATE MORE LANDFILL THAN OUR ENTIRE FACTORY.

At Subaru, our automotive plant in Indiana was the first in America to achieve zero landfill status – meaning 99% of all our waste is recycled. The remaining 1% is turned into electricity.

It was also the first in the U.S. to be designated a wildlife habitat. The Subaru Outback®, Forester®, and Legacy® are also certified EPA SmartWay vehicles* and available as Partial Zero Emissions Vehicles (PZEV) – which in some instances boast emissions that are actually cleaner than the air we breathe in. Of course, the safety of road-gripping All-Wheel Drive is standard on every Subaru we make. subaru.com.

Always ready. It's what makes a Subaru, a Subaru.

*Select Forester 2.5X, Legacy 2.5i and Outback 2.5i models only. Partial Zero Emissions warranty only applies in certain states. For complete warranty information, see your dealer.
